I could have fought at 128 pounds, but they didnt know it. DEFEATS EDDIE HANLON. The fight was arranged to take place on July 29, to go twenty rounds at the same old spot, Woodward's Pavilion. Hanlon, game as a pebble and a shifty, hustling boy like Canole, went after me to gain the twenty round decision on points. He danced around me like an escaped kitten during the early stages of the fight, but I soon solved his style and began wearing him down, fighting fiercely in the clinches. Game little fellow that he is, he met me at my own game. HANLON MEETS BAT AT HIS OWN GAME SLUG. Slug Why, that little fellow made me sit up and take notice. He did chug me several mean blows in the wind, and, to tell the truth, he had me worried a little at the start. The kid, however, was not strong enough to keep up his dashing pace, and gradually I saw him slowing down. Then I got busy. In the seventeenth round I started in to finish him, and by the time we reached the nineteenth round poor Eddie could barely stand, and I toppled him over, winning amid thundering applause. For the first time in my fighting career, I received more than 1,000 for my bit, the officials of San Francisco handing me 1,250 for my share of the purse. I also won...
